POLLING METHODOLOGY

Our philosophy about which population to use depends on the election, but we are generally comfortable with a “likely” model (as opposed to a “registered” model) for most elections. For this poll, we chose a sample of 15,000 registered Republican households in the 2nd Congressional District of Oklahoma (using the district lines in effect for 2012) for an automated poll. We only sampled respondents who indicated that they were “extremely” or “very” likely to vote in the August 28 runoff. 547 respondents met this screening criterion.

The poll was conducted August 2. The margin of error, with a 95% confidence interval, was 4.2%. The geographic breakdown of the respondents was weighted as follows: 49% from northeast Oklahoma, 27% from the central region, and 24% from southeast Oklahoma (The explanation of the boundaries of these regions is graphically depicted in Exhibit A at the end of the poll analysis.).
