

Alabama Abortion Poll Results

POLLING METHODOLOGY

For this poll, a sample of likely households for a live operator poll was chosen from the population registered to vote in the state of Alabama, and there were 750 completed responses to 13 poll questions. 74% of the phone numbers were landlines and 26% of the phone numbers were cell phones.

The survey was conducted May 31-June 3. The margin of error, with a 95% confidence interval, was 3.6%. The racial breakdown of the respondents was 73-26% white/black (1% “other”), while the geographic breakdown (as defined by Nielsen Designated Market Area, or DMA) of the respondents was as follows: 42% from Birmingham, 6% from Dothan, 19% from Huntsville, 14% from Mobile, and 18% from Montgomery (The explanation of the boundaries of these regions is graphically depicted in Exhibit A at the end of the poll analysis).

SUMMARY

JMC Analytics and Polling collaborated with Bold Blue Campaigns to conduct this poll. There are two main takeaways from this poll: (1) Alabamians don't have strong feelings (and are inherently conflicted) about the abortion issue, and (2) they do consistently and strongly oppose the more stringent aspects of abortion restrictions.

When asked where they stand on the abortion issue, nearly half (48%) of respondents are undecided; otherwise, only 14% of respondents take a purist pro-life position while 10% take a purist pro-choice position (when factoring in exceptions, respondents by a narrow 27-25% plurality describe themselves as pro-life instead of pro-choice). When looking at the detailed data, there were not substantial differences among demographic sub-groups.

When asked specifically about legislation Governor Kay Ivey recently signed punishing doctors who perform abortions with prison time, only 33% favored her action, 38% are opposed, and 29% are undecided. The strongest support (which was still only a 40-33% plurality) was in the Mobile media market.

When respondents were then asked about the more stringent aspects of abortion restrictions, they were strongly and consistently opposed. 71-6% opposed reporting to the government when a woman became pregnant/a pregnancy was terminated. By a 63-8% margin, respondents opposed investigating and prosecuting behavior resulting in a miscarriage/pregnancy termination. Similarly, a 55-8% majority opposed a woman's going to jail for having an abortion, a 43-7% plurality was against requiring a woman to give birth if her pregnancy was due to a sexual assault, and a 44-18% plurality favors legal birth control with a doctor's prescription – margins in favor were generally strong across the board, although the margins were somewhat narrower in the Mobile media market.

However, it would be not be correct to describe Alabamians as pro-choice. A 58-27% margin prefers adoption as a viable alternative to abortion, a 39-25% plurality believes that government is responsible for regulating abortion/a woman's conduct while pregnant, while a narrow 21-20% plurality favors allowing the "morning after" pill.

In summary, Governor Kay Ivey's actions regarding abortion do not enjoy majority support, and while Alabamians have pro-life aspects to their opinions on abortion, they consistently oppose what would be considered the more stringent aspects of abortion restrictions.
